

Liz Etkin

CONSULTANT

Liz has extensive experience working with mature and publicly traded Fortune 500 companies, along with early stage venture and private equity-backed companies. As a result, she has become an acknowledged expert in attracting and placing high growth leaders, including CEO succession candidates, board directors and senior executives, across the consumer retail sector. She has a special knack for situations where it is paramount for new leaders to quickly achieve synergy with founders and professional management teams.

Liz's retail management and recruiting career has spanned the U.K. and the U.S., including roles with Henri Bendel in New York and search experience with a national retained boutique recruiting company. She joined our team in 1998 after managing her own research and recruiting practice serving the retail, digital/eCommerce and restaurant industries.

Liz holds a B.A. in Business Administration from DeMontfort University in Leicester, England.
